

Making Connections

Generating New Ideas

Events facilitated for Energy Leeds to develop multi-disciplinary research proposals to generate research funding for the University of Leeds

“ This series of three workshops generated research proposals which were both innovative and multi-disciplinary. Christine and Liz worked hard to listen to our needs and they delivered engaging events with purpose and ingenuity..... ”

Dr Jenny Spear, Project Officer, Energy Leeds

Delivering Results for You

What was achieved

1. Project Teams formed to create research proposal
2. Working partnerships agreed with industry and city council
3. Links and networks deepened across different departments
4. Ideas were generated that continue to influence proposal development and ongoing research development strategy

What We Did

- Provided structured activities which gave everyone, whatever their level of seniority, an equal voice
- Designed activities to bring out creative thoughts and ideas
- Created space for individuals to talk, to share and to build on ideas with others

What was the benefit of these events?

“I certainly learnt things about what people are doing that I didn’t know before”

“Very buzzy days. Tasks generated interest and ideas. Fantastic for networking”

“This was a unique opportunity to connect with people from many different backgrounds to hatch our world-saving plans”

Facilitation makes things easy...

We make it easy for people to start talking to each other and to generate creative ideas.

If your organisation would like to encourage greater networking and sharing so your teams can evolve innovative products and services please contact us to discuss how we can make this process easy for you!
